Test Matrix - Cookbook

Home Page	Event	Expected Reaction	Observed Reaction	Corrections
		L	When on any page, clicking on the logo takes you to the
"click"	Logo	The user will be redirected to the home page	home page
	"Log in" - Navbar	The user will be redirected to the login page	The user is redirected to the login page
	"Log in" - title card "Register" - Navbar	The user will be redirected to the login page The user will be redirected to the register page	The user is redirected to the login page The user is redirected to the register page
	"Register" - title card	The user will be redirected to the register page	The user is redirected to the register page The user is redirected to the register page
	"Home" - Navbar	The user will be redirected to the home page	The user is redirected to the home page
	Recipe preview card	The user will be directed to the recipe page for	The user is directed to the recipe page for that recipe
	Recommendation links -	that recipe	The user is directed to the described site but the page	The links have been altered so that the n
	footer	The user will be directed to the described site	does not open in a new tab	pages open in a new tab
	Social media links - footer	The user will be directed to the described site	The user is directed to the described site but the page	The links have been altered so that the r
			does not open in a new tab	pages open in a new tab
"click" (user logged in)	"Profile" - Navbar	The user will be directed to their profile page	The user is directed to their profile page
	"Add Recipe" - Navbar	The user will be directed to the add recipe form	The user is directed to the add recipe form
	"Log out" - Navbar	The user will be prompted to confirm their decision by a modal	The user is prompted to confirm their decision by a modal. When logout is selected there, the user is logged out and directed to the home page. When cancel is selected the modal closes
Search bar	valid entry	Search results will be displayed relating to the	Search results are displayed relating to the query
		query	A flash message appears informing the user that there invalid entry	An appropriate message will be displayed	are no results for the query
og In Page		In the state of th	Ten in a state of	T
Username entry	valid entry	The line underneath will go red	The line underneath the entry goes green
Password entry	invalid entry	The line underneath the entry will go green	The line underneath the entry goes green
assword entry	valid entry invalid entry	The line underneath the entry will go green The line underneath will go red	The line underneath the entry goes green The line underneath goes red
"click"	rana circi y		If the username and password match an entry in the Log in button	The user will either be logged in or prompted	database, the user is logged in and their profile page is otherwise	loaded
	"Register here" link	The user will be directed to the register page	The user is directed to the register page
Register Page
mail entry	valid entry	The line underneath the entry will go green	The line underneath the entry goes green
Username entry Password entry	invalid entry	The line underneath will go red	The line underneath goes red valid entry	The line underneath will go red	The line underneath the entry goes green invalid entry valid entry	The line underneath will go red The line underneath the entry will go green	The line underneath goes red The line underneath the entry goes green invalid entry	The line underneath the entry will go green The line underneath will go red	The line underneath the entry goes green The line underneath goes red
Confirm	valid entry	The line underneath the entry will go green	The line underneath the entry goes green
Password entry	invalid entry	The line underneath will go red	The line underneath goes red
'click"	Register button	The user will either be logged in or prompted otherwise	If the username is already in the database, the user is told so. If the fields are completed correctly (all green) then the details are sent to the database and the users profile page is loaded
	"Log in here" link	The user will be directed to the login page	The user is directed to the login page
Profile Page
	Upon logging in	The users profile page will be displayed	The users profile page is displayed
	Recipe card select	The user will be directed to the recipe page for	The user is directed to the recipe page for that recipe
Profile Page - Ac		that recipe
rionie rage - Ac	AIIIII	T	A modal opens to allow you to add a new category. The	T
	"Add Category" card	The admin user will be directed to the Add	add category button enters the new category to the
	Add Category Card	Category page
			Idatabase, the cancel button closes the modal
		The edit category page for that category will be	database, the cancel button closes the modal category card select	The edit category page for that category will be displayed	The edit category page for that category is displayed displayed The edit user page for that category will be	The edit category page for that category is displayed category card select user card select	displayed	, Recipe Page		displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed
		displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe
		displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons
Recipe Page User logged in	user card select	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown user card select "edit recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form
Jser logged in	user card select	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown
Jser logged in click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a
Jser logged in click" No user logged in	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal
Jser logged in click" No user logged in	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present
Jser logged in 'click" No user logged in	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for
Jser logged in click" No user logged in	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present
Jser logged in Click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages decipe Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database
Jser logged in Click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page Click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a
Jser logged in "click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page "click" Category Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database
Jser logged in "click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page "click" Category Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "update" button "delete" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal	updated to redirect the user to their pro
Jser logged in click" No user logged in clit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "update" button "delete" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "delete" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on	updated to redirect the user to their pro
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "update" button "delete" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database	updated to redirect the user to their pro
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "delete" button "dupdate" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a	updated to redirect the user to their pro
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "delete" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database	updated to redirect the user to their propage
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee
Jser logged in click" No user logged in cdit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "delete" button "dupdate" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has been updated to redirect the user to their propagation.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in clit Pages decipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee
Jser logged in click" No user logged in clit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage
Jser logged in click" No user logged in clit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click" Jser Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate'
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click" Jser Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript base
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click" Jser Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has been updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript befixes were tried but none worked. This is
Jser logged in click" No user logged in clit Pages Recipe Page click" Category Page click" Jser Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This it transferred to the 'Known faults' section
Jser logged in click" Jo user logged in cdit Pages Jecipe Page click" Jser Page click" Jser Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the database	The action on the cancel button has been updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript batis fixes were tried but none worked. This it transferred to the 'Known faults' section.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page Click" Category Page Click" Jser Page Click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be directed back to their profile	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors.	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This i transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in click Pages Recipe Page click" Jser Page click" Add Recipe Page	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the database	updated to redirect the user to their propage The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This i transferred to the 'Known faults' section.
Jser logged in 'click" No user logged in Edit Pages Recipe Page 'click" Category Page 'click" Jser Page 'click" Add Recipe Page General	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be directed back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the adatabase The user is directed back to the add recipe page	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This i transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in click Pages Recipe Page click" Jser Page click" Add Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "update" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be directed back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the database The user is directed back to the add recipe page	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This i transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in click Pages Recipe Page click" Jser Page click" Add Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "cancel" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be directed back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the adatabase The user is directed back to the add recipe page	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This is transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage.
Jser logged in click" No user logged in click Pages Recipe Page click" Jser Page click" Add Recipe Page click" Category Page click"	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "update" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The user will be directed back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the database The user is directed back to the add recipe page	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This i transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage.
Jser logged in	"edit recipe" button "delete recipe" button "update" button "update" button "update" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button "delete" button "delete" button "cancel" button "cancel" button	displayed The edit user page for that category will be displayed The recipe page for that recipe will show. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons will be shown The user will be directed to the edit recipe form The user will be asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe will be shown with no buttons present The selected recipe will be pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes will be uploaded to the database The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the user entry will be uploaded to the database The user will be asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made will be removed and the user redirected back to their profile page When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it will turn red, and green if valid The recipe will be uploaded to the database The user will be directed back to their profile page	The edit category page for that category is displayed The edit user page for that category is displayed The recipe page for that recipe is shown. If the recipe was uploaded by that user, the edit and delete buttons are also shown The user is directed to the edit recipe form The user is asked to confirm their action by way of a modal The recipe page for that recipe is shown with no buttons present The selected recipe is pre-loaded into the form for editing The recipe changes are uploaded to the database The changes made are removed and the user redirected back to their profile page The changes to the category name are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category The changes to the user entry are uploaded to the database The user is asked to confirm their choice by way of a modal The changes made are removed, but the page stays on the edit screen for that category When an entry is made into a field that is invalid, the line under it turns red, or green if valid. Exceptions are for those entries made for dropdown selectors. The recipe is uploaded to the database The user is directed back to the add recipe page The user is directed back to the add recipe page	The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their propage This is a known issue with the 'validate' class in materialize. Some JavaScript bas fixes were tried but none worked. This is transferred to the 'Known faults' section. The action on the cancel button has bee updated to redirect the user to their pro